Upperclassmen dominate the 2004-05 Cortland men’s ice hockey roster. With that said, the Red Dragons are expected to win games, and not just enough to reach the SUNYAC playoffs for an unprecedented fifth consecutive year. This season, the pressure is squarely on the shoulders of the 10 seniors and 10 juniors to win in conference, out of conference, close games, road games and home games. It’s a tall order, but now is the time to fulfill it.

Senior Jason Perry should surpass 100 games in his career during the 2004-05 season. Perry skated in 50 games in his career and adding an assist in three games. Sophomore Jon Sandos is a quick defenseman who picked up a pair of assists in four games last season. The one newcomer to the group is junior Mike Caruso, a transfer from New England College. Caruso will log plenty of minutes and will be an instant asset on special teams.

Plenty of offense returns to a team that pumped in 111 goals last season. Senior captain Tim Earl (14-19-33) led the team in points and assists last season and is one of three forwards with a chance to eclipse the 100-point mark for career scoring. Senior Nate Gagnon (15-11-26) led Cortland with seven power-play goals in 2003-04 and was third in scoring. He enters the season 19th in career scoring with 81 points on 38 goals and 43 assists. Senior Kevin Watters (6-16-22) is a talented playmaker and was second in assists last season. With a big year that’s expected of him, he could move past the century mark in career scoring.

Senior Kyle Coletti (7-8-15) netted five of his goals in SUNYAC play in 2003-04 and will see plenty of ice time this season. Senior captain Tim Earl (14-19-33) led the team in points and assists last season and is one of three forwards with a chance to eclipse the 100-point mark for career scoring. The Red Dragons are bigger, stronger and faster this season with a top spot in the SUNYAC. Cranfield has eight defensemen on his roster, including seven from 2003-04. Seniors Jeremy Nau and Jeff Lovier will be the cornerstones of the defense. Nau, a physical presence on the ice, collected 10 assists last season, while Lovier consistently demonstrated two-way skills throughout the season. Junior Aaron Cowieson saw action in 22 games last season and was most often paired with sophomore Peter Deloria, who registered three assists in 25 games. Junior Joe Giar is a big defenseman capable of keeping the crease clear. Sophomore Emerson Mish joined the team late in the season in 2004 and immediately displayed his ability to generate offense from the blue line, scoring two power-play goals and adding an assist in three games. Sophomore Jon Sandos is a

Tom Cranfield
Head Coach

Tom Cranfield, a former SUNY Cortland men’s ice hockey player and assistant coach, begins his fourth season as the program’s head coach in 2004-05. Last season, he guided the Red Dragons to a 10-16-1 record and a berth into the SUNYAC playoffs. The postseason showing marked the first time in school history that the Red Dragons qualified for four consecutive league tournaments.

In 2003-04, Cranfield led the Red Dragons to a SUNYAC playoff berth and their first victory over rival Plattsburgh since 1977. In his first season, he guided the Red Dragons to a 14-11-4 record, the most wins by the program since 1993. Cortland won its opening-round SUNYAC playoff series before being eliminated in the conference semifinals.

Cranfield served as head ice hockey coach and taught physical education at the highly-regarded Northfield Mount Hermon Prep School in Massachusetts from 1995-2001. He was an assistant coach at Cortland for two seasons from 1993-95.

A standout defenseman at Cortland from 1989-93, Cranfield is the school’s career assist leader (73) and ranks ninth in overall scoring (93 points). As a senior in 1992-93, he earned first team All-State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) honors. The Red Dragons finished 19-9 that season and advanced to the finals of the SUNYAC postseason tournament. Cranfield was a team captain and the program’s Red Letter Award winner in both his junior and senior seasons. He earned a bachelor’s degree in physical education in 1993 and a master’s degree in education in 1995.

A native of Auburn, N.Y., Cranfield graduated from Auburn High School in 1988. He was the school’s hockey Most Valuable Player in both 1987 and 1988. His father, Jim, is a 1961 Cortland graduate and a member of the school’s C-Club Athletic Hall of Fame.

Cranfield and his wife, Tara, reside in Cortland.

Josh Murray
Assistant Coach

Josh Murray enters his third season behind the Cortland bench in 2004-05. Prior to Cortland, he was an assistant coach for the men’s ice hockey team and head coach of the men’s cross country team at Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts from 1997-99.

Murray was a standout defensemen for four seasons at SUNY Oswego, helping guide the Lakers to the SUNYAC playoffs all four seasons. He led the team in “Plus/Minus” and was voted “Fan Favorite” as a junior and senior. Murray earned a bachelor’s degree in Criminal Justice in 1993 with a double minor in Health Science and Coaching.

After graduation, Murray pursued a professional hockey career, playing with the Utica Bulldogs of the Colonial Hockey League under Head Coach Marty Howe and the San Antonio Iquanas of the Central Hockey League for seven-time NHL all-star Bill Goldsworthy.

A native of Massachusetts, Murray is a 1989 graduate of Tabor Academy, where he earned All-New England honors in both ice hockey and football.

Cortland had rallied to take a 4-3 lead with three third-period goals, one each by Tim Earl, Nate Gagnon and Kyle Coletti.

Geneseo 6, Cortland 4
(Jan. 31; Geneseo, NY)
The Red Dragons and Knights each scored four power-play goals, and Geneseo added a short-handed score in a game decided by the special team units. Matt Schillace scored the game-winning goal 40 seconds into overtime off assists from Jason Wilson and Tim Earl.

Buffalo St. 5, Cortland 2
(Feb. 7; Cortland, NY)
Matt Schillace gave the Red Dragons a 2-0 lead with goals 22 seconds apart in the first period, but Buffalo St. closed out the game with the final five goals, including three in the third period. Cortland outshot the Bengals, 46-28, in the game.

Potsdam 6, Cortland 5
(Feb. 13; Potsdam, NY)
After Potsdam took a 4-2 lead in a wide open first period, the Red Dragons managed to get within one goal three times but couldn’t score the equalizer. Matt Donskov made it 4-3 in the second period, Kyle Coletti pulled Cortland to 5-4 with a goal midway through the third period, and David Ambuhl’s late power-play goal made it 6-5. Cortland pulled its goalie looking for the tying goal but couldn’t send the game into overtime.

Plattsburgh 6, Cortland 1
(Feb. 14; Plattsburgh, NY)
Nationally sixth-ranked Plattsburgh scored five second-period goals, three on the power-play, to erase a 1-0 Cortland lead en route to the win. Matt Donskov had given the Red Dragons the lead 6:44 into the opening period off assists from Kevin Watters and Jeremy Nau. Jason Lojewski made 25 saves in his third career start.

Oswego 8, Cortland 1
(Feb. 17; Cortland, NY)

Oswego 5, Cortland 4 (OT) (SUNYAC Quarterfinals)
(Feb. 20; Oswego, NY)

The Lakers killed off a five-minute major penalty to assure the extra period, then won the game 41 seconds into overtime. Matt Donskov recorded his 100th career point with an assist on Cortland’s second goal.

Oswego 9, Cortland 2 (SUNYAC Quarterfinals)
(Feb. 21; Oswego, NY)
Oswego broke open a close game with five third-period goals in a span of 6:12 to end Cortland’s season. CORTLAND
About SUNY Cortland

Located atop one of the rolling hills in central New York’s “City of Seven Valleys,” the State University of New York College at Cortland was founded in 1868 as the Cortland Normal School, which included among its earliest students inventor and industrialist Elmer A. Sperry of Sperry-Rand Corp. fame.

Over the decades, the campus expanded and in 1941, by an act of legislature and the Board of Regents, the institution officially became a four-year college providing courses leading to the bachelor’s degree. In 1948, Cortland was a founding member of the State University of New York.

Today, approximately 7,500 students are pursuing degrees within the College’s three academic divisions — arts and sciences, professional studies and the school of education. Twenty-three departments with a faculty of more than 400 offer the SUNY Cortland student body 70 majors and 44 minors from which to choose.

The College’s main campus covers 191 acres and includes 30 traditional and modern buildings. Fourteen of these structures are residence halls providing on-campus housing for approximately 3,000 students. Cortland also operates its Outdoor Education Center at Raquette Lake in the Adirondacks, the Hoxie Gorge Nature Preserve outside Cortland, and the Brauer Memorial Geological Field Station on the Helderberg Escarpment near Albany.

At Cortland, athletics are viewed as having an important role in the educational mission of the College. During the fall, winter and spring seasons, Cortland participates in 25 intercollegiate sports — 14 women’s and 11 men’s — in an attempt to provide a broad program which meets the needs, interests and abilities of its students.

The Cortland athletic program placed eighth nationally out of 430 colleges and universities in the 2003-04 all-sport National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) Directors’ Cup Division III standings. The award was formerly known as the Sears Directors’ Cup from 1995-2002. Cortland is the only New York school and one of only six nationwide to finish in the top 20 each of the last nine years. Since 1989, the Red Dragons have captured 12 NCAA Division III team titles.

The College offers its student-athletes excellent athletic facilities. The newly-constructed on-campus stadium features two artificial turf fields. One field seats 6,500 spectators, the other 1,500. The Cortland football, field hockey, men’s and women’s soccer, men’s and women’s lacrosse and men’s and women’s track and field teams are among those who utilize the facility, which the New York Times called “...a new stadium worthy of a major university power.”

The Bessie L. Park Physical Education and Recreation Center, opened in 1973, features the Whitney T. Corey Gymnasium with a 3,500 seating capacity; the Olympic-sized Harriet Holsten swimming pool with gallery seating for 1,500; the Alumni Ice Arena, a facility which can accommodate 2,500 spectators; a 500-seat gymnastics arena, racquetball and squash courts, a wrestling room, modern athletic training facilities and the state-of-the-art Francis Woods Fitness Facility.

Nearby Clayton R. Lusk Field House, with its tartan-textured surface, is home for the indoor track teams, varsity practice sessions and recreational activities. Cortland’s soccer teams play on T. Fred “Prof” Holloway Field, which has lights for night contests and newly installed bleachers. The College also has 22 outdoor tennis courts and two outdoor basketball courts and boasts Robert H. Wallace Field (baseball) and Dragon Field (softball) as part of its 51 acres of athletic fields.
