State University of New York

The University Today

State University of New York (SUNY) is a modern public university — a unified statewide system of 64 campuses enrolling around 410,000 students — the largest single, most diverse multi-campus university in the nation, meeting the needs of an increasingly diverse population. The University proudly counts more than 2.4 million alumni.

SUNY is a community of learning and inquiry, ranging from “full opportunity” campuses, providing access to higher education, to extremely selective and competitive programs rivaling the best in America, all within hours of virtually every New Yorker.

The varied missions of its campuses underscore the wide range of educational diversity and promise found in SUNY’s classrooms and lecture halls. Almost every field of academic or professional study is offered somewhere within the system — more than 6,650 courses of study overall.

The Campuses

Research and advanced graduate and professional studies are conducted primarily through the four University Centers at Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo and Stony Brook. In addition, the University’s five statutory colleges are located on the campuses of two private universities and offer a number of specializations leading to bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral degrees. The College of Environmental Science and Forestry offers undergraduate upper division and graduate work leading to degree opportunities through the doctorate. The Health Science Center at Brooklyn, Health Science Center at Syracuse, and the College of Optometry (graduate studies only) are three institutions dedicated exclusively to health-related degree programs.

Recognized nationally for their quality undergraduate instruction, SUNY’s 13 university colleges conduct programs of academic study through the master’s degree in a wide range of liberal arts and professional disciplines.

SUNY’s eight technology colleges have responded to societal change by developing new and innovative programs in public and human services as well as high-tech offerings. Programs range from agriculture to health and medical technologies, to engineering technology, to business and computer science, liberal arts and science, and human services.

The 30 locally sponsored community colleges under the program of State University of New York are the major entry point to the University for more than half of SUNY’s student body. In the forefront of efforts to meet the accelerating pace of technological developments and the requirements of continuing educational opportunity for all citizens, they play a pivotal role in training and retraining the state’s work force.

The Students

SUNY today means unprecedented promise for diverse student populations, those academically well-prepared and those less so, to take advantage of the opportunities that education can provide to improve their lives and the larger society. Approximately 36.6 percent of SUNY’s students are 25 years of age or older, reflecting the University’s commitment to continuing education for business, industry and the professions.

The University’s program for the educationally and economically disadvantaged has become a model for delivering better learning opportunities to young people and adults traditionally bypassed by higher education. Over the past 30 years almost 482,000 New York State residents have been served through the Educational Opportunity Program and Educational Opportunity Centers.

Forty percent of all New York State high school graduates enroll at a SUNY campus, and the University’s total enrollment is approximately 37 percent of all college students in the state.

Although more than 96 percent of SUNY’s undergraduates come from New York State, the rest come from every other state in the nation and from 150 foreign countries.

Those Who Teach

SUNY is committed to bringing to its students the best and brightest faculty, and the promise of a caring learning environment. The SUNY community of teachers and scholars is recruited from the finest graduate schools and universities and includes nationally and internationally recognized figures in all the major disciplines.

Faculty efforts and accomplishments have been recognized by numerous prestigious awards and honors, including the Nobel Prize, Pulitzer Prize, Guggenheim grants, MacArthur “genius” awards, Sloan, Danforth and Fulbright fellowships, and ACLS awards.

Meeting Society’s Needs

The University’s future-looking planning process articulated in “SUNY 2000: A Vision for the New Century,” places special emphasis on SUNY as a key player in meeting state needs in health care, public education, economic development, social services and the environment.

As a source of ideas, information, innovation and inventions, SUNY has become essential to the success and growth of New York’s business and industry and to the prosperity of all New Yorkers. Its special mission to the people of New York is to develop the base of research and knowledge on which the state’s economic life depends, and to offer every New York State resident access to the finest public higher education.

SUNY researchers pioneered nuclear magnetic resonance imaging, introduced time-lapse photography of forestry subjects, isolated the bacteria that causes lyme disease, developed the first implantable heart pacemaker and made hundreds of other contributions, inventions and innovations for the benefit of society.

The University’s libraries are the major resource supporting the teaching and research activities of students and faculty and are an important community resource, too. Of the more than 6 million items circulated SUNY-wide last year, more than one third of one million were made available to the wider community through loans of books to non-SUNY institutions, including school, business, public and special libraries. The University’s library collection exceeds 20 million books and other materials.
