ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS AND OTHER SIGNIFICANT WORK EXPERIENCE

Professor of Education with tenure, State University of New York College at Cortland, Cortland, New York, 2003-present.

I teach advanced level graduate courses in the Educational Leadership program. Three regular courses include EDL 685: Facilities Maintenance and Management, EDL 657: Principles of Organizational Leadership, and EDL 699: Culminating Seminar. In addition, I regularly supervise Educational Leadership Interns.

Dean, School of Education, State University of New York College at Cortland, Cortland, New York, 2003-2007.

I was responsible for the School of Education with programs in Childhood Education, Early Childhood Education, Special Education, Literacy Education, and Educational Leadership. Programs are offered at the bachelors, masters, and certificate of advanced graduate study levels. The school is organized in four departments with approximately forty faculty members and around 2,000 majors.

Professor of Educational Technology with tenure, College of Education, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado, 1990-2002.

I taught, conducted research, provided public service, and coordinated the graduate educational technology program. This program of approximately 150 masters and doctoral students and a full-time faculty of 7. I was the PI for the "Infusing Technology Use in the Preparation of Colorado Preservice Teachers" project from the United States Department of Education.

Visiting Professor, College of Education, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, Spring Term 1998.

Curriculum Vita for Edward P. Caffarella, Ph.D. page 4

Interim Director, Division of Educational Psychology, Statistics, and Technology, College of Education, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado, Spring 1997

I had overall responsible for division programs including faculty supervision, budget control, and program development. The division included the 15 faculty members in Educational Psychology, Research and Statistics, and Educational Technology.

Coordinator of the Educational Technology Graduate Programs, College of Education, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado, 1990-1996.

I was responsible for the Ph.D. in Educational Technology, the MA in Educational Technology, the MA in Educational Media, and the School Library Media Licensure programs. During my term as coordinator we created a new Ph.D. program in Educational Technology that has grown to be one of the major doctoral programs in the field. I was also responsible for the supervision of the program faculty members.

Interim Associate Director, School for the Study of Teaching and Teacher Education, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado, Spring 1995

I was responsible for general school management including supervision of graduate programs, implementing a decentralized management structure, and program scheduling. This was a temporary one semester assignment.

Director, Western Institute for Distance Education, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colorado, 1991-1992

I was responsible for the overall leadership and administration Institute. The Institute provided support for distance education activities at the University including instructional design activities as well as a telecommunication system.

Associate Professor with tenure, School of Education, Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond, Virginia, 1985-1990

I taught, conducted research, and provided public service in the area of instructional technology. My particular emphasis was in the utilization of computers in educational settings. I also had responsibility for the development and coordination of the graduate program for library media specialists.

Adjunct Faculty, Virginia Commonwealth University and University of Virginia, 1982-1984

I taught the graduate level course entitled Computer Literacy in Education.

Associate Professor with tenure, College of Education, University of Maine at Orono, 1977-1983;
Assistant Professor, 1973-1977; Graduate Faculty, 1973-1983

I taught and advised graduate students in the areas of computing, research, administration, and instructional development. I also taught media skills in the undergraduate program. I served on ten doctoral committees and six masters thesis committees.

Director, Instructional Systems Center, University of Maine at Orono, 1973-1983

The Instructional Systems Center provided instructional support services to the university. The center was a service program in the office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. I was responsible directly to the Vice President. The overall purpose of the center was to improve instruction throughout the university. My role involved overall administration of the center and working with all academic administrators in the development of policies and programs. The services of the center included instructional development, graphics production, audiovisual equipment, instructional television, and a film rental library. I was responsible for a professional staff of seven, a classified staff of eight, and a part time staff of fifteen.

Visiting Distinguished Lecturer and Curriculum Development Coordinator, National Iranian Radio and Television Internal Training Project, Michigan State University, Fall Semester 1976

I taught in the graduate level Instructional Development and Technology program. We developed an advanced instructional technology training program for use in Tehran, Iran.

Cooperating Assistant Professor, Institute for Health Science Education, University of Maine, 1974-1975

My work with the Institute for Health Science Education included work with the education programs of several hospitals and clinics.

Assistant Director, Resource Utilization Project, Instructional Media Center, Michigan State University, 1972-1973

The Resource Utilization Project provided instructional development services to Federal City College, Virginia State University, and North Carolina Central University. I had responsibility for the coordination of the staff at the four locations as well as the fiscal supervision of the project.
