SUNY Cortland junior quarterback J.J. Tutwiler (Grand Island) has been selected to the D3Football.com national “Team of the Week” and was named the ECAC Division III Northwest Offensive Player of the Week for his performance versus The College of New Jersey last Saturday. The D3Football.com team is comprised of the best players at each position during the given week. Only one quarterback is chosen nationally.

Tutwiler became the first player in school history to pass for more than 300 yards and rush for more than 100 yards in the same game. In the Red Dragons’ 41-38 overtime loss to the Lions at home, Tutwiler completed 17-of-21 passes for 338 yards and three touchdowns and was not intercepted. He also ran 17 times for 118 yards and a score. In addition, Tutwiler averaged 43.0 yards per punt on four attempts.

Cortland senior defensive tackle John Longo (Massapequa) was chosen to the ECAC Northwest weekly honor roll. Longo made 10 tackles against New Jersey, five for lost yardage. Two of his five tackles for loss were sacks.

Cortland will host Kean University on Saturday at 1 p.m. in a New Jersey Athletic Conference contest.
