Season Preview

Fifth-year head coach Lelan Rogers has successfully guided the Cortland men’s lacrosse program back to national prominence. After reaching the NCAA playoffs just once in a span of 11 years prior to Rogers’ arrival, the Red Dragons have earned a spot in the NCAA postseason in each of his first four seasons. During that time, the Red Dragons have won 59 games, including 26 straight regular-season State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) contests, against some of the top competition in Division III.

Despite losing its top-scoring attackman and midfielder and two best close defenders, Cortland enters the 2005 campaign ranked fourth in the Face-Off Yearbook/Inside Lacrosse 2005 preseason Division III poll. And based on their schedule, the Red Dragons will need to string together some tough wins over talented teams to remain among the nation’s elite. Cortland faces six of the 17 teams that qualified for the Division III NCAA playoffs last season, as well as the usual slate against strong New York opponents.

Unlike 2004, when goalkeeping was a huge question mark, Rogers has a pair of experienced juniors back. Both Ben Gaebel and Bryan Scipione started nine games last season, with each seeing action in critical contests.

While the Red Dragons graduated a pair of well-honored close defenders, Rogers has experienced depth with his returning long-pole unit and a group of newcomers who will bolster the position. Junior Dan Schmitt earned second team All-SUNYAC honors in 2004 as a close defenseman and will be a significant factor in 2005. Senior Sean Mack will be a contributor again this season after playing in 15 games as a sophomore and nine games as a junior.

Senior Dan Mendelson is a key long stick who wreaks havoc in the midfield with his tenacity and speed. Junior Jake Sweet saw action in all 18 games last season and junior Casey Dougherty returns this season after a year away from the program. Sophomore Cheney Raymond had a solid freshman campaign, finishing second on the team with 82 ground balls. Junior Ed LeFebvre and sophomore Keith Lizzi, two transfers, and freshman Nick Bueti will also be in the mix.

Seniors Doug Muhlbaier, Brad Ertl and Justin Miller head the list of offensive midfielders. Muhlbaier and Ertl are tough ball hawks with the strength to force opposing midfielders away from the cage. Miller is a quicker player whose speed is key to his game.

Cortland won 61.5 percent of its faceoffs last season, and sophomore Bill Gleason, a first team All-SUNYAC selection in 2004, will again have the most opportunities at the faceoff “X.” Gleason, who is also an offensive force in the midfield, was successful on 138-of-215 faceoffs (64.2 percent) as a freshman and led the team with 91 ground balls. Also taking faceoffs in 2005 will be junior Mike Abbott, a transfer from Virginia and former high school All-American, sophomore Ryan Simensky and freshman Adam Hyde, another scholastic All-American.

The Red Dragons again have a multitude of options on offense. Senior attackman Adam Hughes is ranked 14th in career scoring (98-65-163) and has a chance of becoming just the fifth Red Dragon to score 200 career points. Hughes finally received his due recognition last season. He was second on the team in scoring (37-22-59) and fourth in ground balls (63) and was an honorable mention All-America, second team All-ECAC Upstate New York and first team All-SUNYAC selection.

Junior attackman Kyle Lambert led Cortland with 42 goals for the second straight year and has 100 career points in his first two seasons. He earned second team All-SUNYAC honors in 2004.

Junior Tony Ventiquattro, a transfer from Division I Massachusetts and former high school All-American, will have an immediate impact on the Red Dragon offense. Juniors Brian Atkins (3-1-4) and Drew Solomon (3-1-4) have a chance to really step up and contribute this season, and sophomore Kevin Russell, a transfer from Division I Albany, will add needed depth to the attack position.

New faces, renewed returners and established veterans comprise the offensive midfield unit, which is deep and talented. Sophomore Mike Felice (18-6-24) is coming off an impressive freshman campaign in which he was chosen as the SUNYAC First Year Player of the Year and earned second team All-SUNYAC honors. Simensky (12-15-27) finished fifth in scoring last season, and junior Matt O’Connell (10-15-25) was sixth in scoring in 2004. Both will see the field often this season. Junior Tim Castoro (1-0-1) should contribute better numbers in 2005, while sophomore Chad Hagner has impressed the coaching staff during preseason. Sophomore Bob Lemerise makes the move to the offensive midfield this season after playing a significant role as a defensive middie in 2004.

Abbott heads the list of newcomers in the midfield, having won a Division I national title while at Virginia. Hyde, sophomore Zak Carter and freshmen Chris Hannon and Vinny Scaduto all come to the program with proven backgrounds and the skills to compete right away.

With a solid foundation in place and plenty of talented additions on board, there should be no letdown this season for the Cortland men’s lacrosse team. The Red Dragons, who will be tested early and often, have worked diligently to achieve their lofty status as a national contender and should again be in the thick of the NCAA playoff picture come May.

Lelan Rogers
Head Coach

Lelan Rogers enters his fifth season as Cortland's head men's lacrosse coach in 2005. He has an impressive four-year record of 59-15 (.797) and has guided the Red Dragons to four NCAA Division III tournament appearances and three State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) titles.

Last season, he guided Cortland to a 15-3 record and the SUNYAC regular-season title. The Red Dragons finished tied for fifth nationally after advancing to the national quarterfinals. Rogers earned SUNYAC Coach of the Year honors in 2003 after Cortland finished 17-3 to set a school single-season record for victories. The Red Dragons won two NCAA playoff games and missed qualifying for the national title game by one goal after losing in double overtime in the national semifinals to three-time defending champion Middlebury.

In 2002, Cortland finished 16-3, at the time a school record for wins. The Red Dragons claimed both the SUNYAC regular-season and tournament titles and defeated Clarkson 9-1 in the NCAA opening round, tying a tournament record for fewest goals allowed. Cortland lost by one goal in the national quarterfinals. The Red Dragons finished first nationally in Division III in scoring defense (5.6 goals allowed per game) and second in scoring margin (+8.5 goals per game).

In 2001, Cortland finished with an 11-6 record and won the SUNYAC regular-season title to earn an NCAA berth.

Rogers previously coached at Ohio Wesleyan University, where he led the men's lacrosse team to seven NCAA Division III playoff appearances in the 1990s. He enjoyed a 109-33 record at Ohio Wesleyan from 1991-99. He guided the Battling Bishops to the NCAA Division III championship game in 1993 and five other national semifinals. His teams also won six North Coast Athletic Conference (NCAC) titles and had an overall record of 59-15 (.797) and has guided the Red Dragons to four NCAA Division III tournament appearances and three State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) titles.

Overall, Rogers has coached 64 All-Americans, including 17 at Cortland. Among those honorees were Cortland's Justin Mendelson, who was named the United States Intercollegiate Athletic Association (USILA) Division III Defendersen of the Year in 2002, along with 1998 USILA Division III Player of the Year Darren McGurn of Ohio Wesleyan. Rogers also coached three-time Cortland All-America midfielder Andrew Roth, who was a 2004 draft pick of both the Philadelphia Barrage of Major League Lacrosse and the National Lacrosse League's San Jose Stealth.

Rogers was a finalist for USILA Division III Coach of the Year honors in 1998 after leading the Battling Bishops to a 14-2 record and the top spot in the final regular-season national poll.

In addition to his lacrosse duties, Rogers was an assistant faculty director and physical education teacher at Ohio Wesleyan. He served as an assistant football coach from 1990-94. He was the owner and director of the Ohio Wesleyan Midwest All-Star Lacrosse Camp for 10 years and the Ohio Wesleyan Best of the West 150 Lacrosse Camp four years.

Cortland: Cradle of Lacrosse Coaches

Over the decades, a significant number of Cortland graduates — almost all of them former Red Dragon players — have entered the coaching ranks at all levels to foster the sport of lacrosse.

Bill Tierney ’73 directed Princeton University to five NCAA Division I titles in the 1990s, including three straight from 1996-98, and national runnerup status in 2000. David Urick ’70, a former Cortland Distinguished Young Alumnus, led Hobart College to an unprecedented 10 straight NCAA Division III crowns from 1980-89. He is currently the head coach at Division I Georgetown University, an NCAA playoff qualifier five consecutive years from 1997-2001. On the scholastic level, Mike Messere ’66 and Joe Cuozzo ’59 of West Genesee High School and Ward Melville High School, respectively, have built two of the most dominant programs in New York State.

About SUNY Cortland

Located atop one of the rolling hills in central New York’s “City of Seven Valleys,” the State University of New York College at Cortland was founded in 1868 as the Cortland Normal School, which included among its earliest students inventor and industrialist Elmer A. Sperry of Sperry-Rand Corp. fame.

Over the decades, the campus expanded and in 1941, by an act of legislature and the Board of Regents, the institution officially became a four-year college providing courses leading to the bachelor’s degree. In 1948, Cortland was a founding member of the State University of New York.

Today, approximately 7,500 students are pursuing degrees within the College’s three academic divisions — arts and sciences, professional studies and the school of education. Twenty-three departments with a faculty of more than 400 offer the SUNY Cortland student body 70 majors and 44 minors from which to choose.

The College’s main campus covers 191 acres and includes 30 traditional and modern buildings. Fourteen of these structures are residence halls providing on-campus housing for approximately 3,000 students. Cortland also operates its Outdoor Education Center at Raquette Lake in the Adirondacks, the Hoxie Gorge Nature Preserve outside Cortland, and the Brauer Memorial Geological Field Station on the Helderberg Escarpment near Albany.

At Cortland, athletics are viewed as having an important role in the educational mission of the College. During the fall, winter and spring seasons, Cortland participates in 25 intercollegiate sports — 14 women’s and 11 men’s — in an attempt to provide a broad program which meets the needs, interests and abilities of its students.

The Cortland athletic program placed eighth nationally out of 430 colleges and universities in the 2003-04 all-sport National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) Directors’ Cup Division III standings. The award was formerly known as the Sears Directors’ Cup from 1995-2002. Cortland is the only New York school and one of only six nationwide to finish in the top 20 each of the last nine years. Since 1989, the Red Dragons have captured 12 NCAA Division III team titles.

The College offers its student-athletes excellent athletic facilities. The newly-constructed on-campus stadium features two artificial turf fields. One field seats 6,500 spectators, the other 1,500. The Cortland football, field hockey, men’s and women’s soccer, men’s and women’s lacrosse and men’s and women’s track and field teams are among those who utilize the facility, which the New York Times called “...a new stadium worthy of a major university power.”

The Bessie L. Park Physical Education and Recreation Center, opened in 1973, features the Whitney T. Corey Gymnasium with a 3,500 seating capacity; the Olympic-sized Harriet Holsten swimming pool with gallery seating for 1,500; the Alumni Ice Arena, a facility which can accommodate 2,500 spectators; a 500-seat gymnastics arena, racquetball and squash courts, a wrestling room, modern athletic training facilities and the state-of-the-art Francis Woods Fitness Facility.

Nearby Clayton R. Lusk Field House, with its tartan-textured surface, is home for the indoor track teams, varsity practice sessions and recreational activities. Cortland’s soccer teams play on T. Fred “Prof” Holloway Field, which has lights for night contests and newly installed bleachers. The College also has 22 outdoor tennis courts and two outdoor basketball courts and boasts Robert H. Wallace Field (baseball) and Dragon Field (softball) as part of its 51 acres of athletic fields.
